

SASHA GOODWIN

Sasha Goodwin has over 25 years of experience with child protection, foster care and early years projects. Sasha spent 15 years in the Queensland Police and Child Abuse Unit and is passionate about creating and nurturing safe working environments for children as well as ethical frameworks of practice. She currently lectures and teaches at Bond University across a number of disciplines.

#1 MASON'S LAW - MANDATORY REPORTING FOR EARLY YEARS EDUCATORS

This interactive workshop aims to support and provide information for mandated reporters by ensuring they are aware of their legal responsibilities to report known or suspected child abuse and neglect in Queensland.

#2 CHILD PROTECTION (REFRESHER) - MANDATORY REPORTING FOR EARLY YEARS EDUCATORS

This workshop takes a targeted approach through a case study and individual centre experiences, looking at child abuse and neglect, as well as family violence.

#3 MASON'S LAW (ADVANCED) - MANDATORY REPORTING FOR EARLY YEARS EDUCATORS

This advanced workshop builds on the foundations of the Mason's Law workshop and will increase your existing knowledge through a variety of written text and interactive activities.

#4 MANAGING CHALLENGING BEHAVIOURS

Understanding and responding to children

This workshop explores values, beliefs, the context around challenging behaviours as well as the functions and responses.

#5 FAMILIES AS PARTNERS IN LEARNING

This workshop will address the importance of working in partnership with families while exploring some of the barriers and challenges that currently exist. It also explores the different parenting and communication styles that impact on this partnership.

#6 SEXUAL DEVELOPMENT AND HEALTHY BEHAVIOURS

This workshop defines healthy sexuality and social learning as well as exploring adult values, beliefs, the context around sexualised behaviours. It further addresses sexual development with an interactive tool, the Traffic Lights Model and provides an opportunity for questions and scenario discussions.

HEATHER BARNES

Heather Barnes assisted ACECQA as one of the writers of the revised NQS in 2017 so is able to share insights and highlight the detail in the changes. She has a wealth of knowledge about all aspects of quality practice. Heather facilitated the inaugural Assessor Training and continues to provide further training and advice to Regulatory Authorities.

#1 UNDERSTANDING CHANGES TO THE NQS

Many services struggle to find the time or user-friendly ways to assist all educators to understand the changes to the NQS but realise how important it is if they hope to achieve a successful outcome at their next Assessment and Rating visit.

This in-service opportunity would enable all staff to:

- Gain an overview of what has changed and the reasons behind it
- Explore the significant differences
- Feel more confident when understanding self-assessment
- Assist in completing the QIP
- Understand and deliver quality practice every day not just during Assessment and Rating
